Junk food was definitely not a common item on my menu. I first went to the doctor with IBS-type symptoms when I was 18. I went back again in 2017. My cancer wasn't discovered for another 2 years. So, I believe we need to talk about poo a lot more, so that people like me get a diagnosis much earlier.

Let's Talk is an Improving Access to Psychological Therapies (IAPT) service covering Gloucestershire & Herefordshire. We can help with a range of emotional and psychological problems.

A game-changing model for giving effective feedback to peers, employees, or even your boss--without offending or demotivating. How are you supposed to tell someone that they're not meeting expectations without crushing their spirit? Regular feedback, when delivered skillfully, can turn average performers into the hardest workers and stars into superstars. Yet many see it as an awkward chore: Recent studies have revealed 37% of managers dread giving feedback, and 65% of employees wish their managers gave more feedback. This trail-blazing new model eliminates the guesswork. Dr. Therese Huston, the founding director of the Center for Excellence in Teaching and Learning at Seattle University, discovered that the key to being listened to is to listen. First, find out what kind of feedback an employee wants most:

appreciation, coaching, or evaluation. If they crave one, they'll be more receptive once their need has been satisfied. Then Huston lays out counterintuitive strategies for delivering each type of feedback successfully, including:

- Start by saying your good intentions out loud: it may feel unnecessary, but it makes all the difference.
- Side with the person, not the problem: a bad habit or behavior is probably less entrenched than you think.
- Give reports a chance to correct inaccurate feedback: they want an opportunity to talk more than they want you to be a good talker.

This handbook will make a once-stressful ordeal feel natural, and, by greasing the wheels of regular feedback conversations, help managers improve performance, trust, and mutual understanding.

Families aren't one-size-fits-all, so let's talk about you and your needs, rather than compare to other families.

Anna Sale wants you to have THAT conversation. Sale is the founder and host of the award-winning podcast Death, Sex, and Money. She and her guests have direct and thought-provoking conversations, discussing topics that most of us are too squeamish, polite, or nervous to bring up. Diving into five of the most fraught conversation topics - death, sex, money, family, and identity - she moves between memoir, fascinating snapshots of a variety of North Americans opening up about their lives, and expert opinions to show why having tough conversations is important and how to do them in a thoughtful and generous way. Print run 125,000.

This thing called life can be a tough journey. It is imperative that we utilize all the tools and resources that God gives, because they really are the only things that will help lighten the load. There is encouragement to be found Let's Talk Life: A New Perspective, and inspiration to face life's inevitable challenges. The Introduction details eight potent, "thought-transformational principles" that can be studied and reflected upon daily—and that's only the Introduction! Nicole has expounded upon point after cogent point in an easy to navigate guide that is as suitable for consumption as a quick bite as it is for a long, sit-down banquet. Each section concludes with Life Tools, Scripture references to be used for additional context, biblical support and further reading on the topic of discussion. Don't give up. Do not quit. Fight back and let your scars remind you that you walk among survivors, wounded for a purpose. As it says in 2 Timothy 3:12, everyone who wants to live a Godly life in Christ Jesus will be persecuted. If Jesus had to endure, you will, too...Seek God, pray [and] study your Word. Every paragraph—every sentence, almost—is an exhortation to excellence, a proclamation of victory in Christ over any and all tribulations that try to knock believers off God's appointed path. Through unique insights and personal testimony, Nicole offers heartfelt, practical counsel in a voice that is direct, clear and authoritative while remaining approachable and friendly. Choose any section and begin to read; after only a few lines you will feel as though you are in intimate conversation with a cherished friend, a confidante who wants only the best for you in your walk with God. Let's Talk Life: A New Perspective is a devotional/teaching tool/prayer book that believers of any age will find invaluable.

that fail to resolve important issues, it typically harms our relationships and undermines productivity. In Let's Talk About It, bestselling author and top consultant Dr. Paul Marciano presents a powerful collection of proven communication and relationship strategies that will transform your difficult conversations into healthy conversations. You'll learn how to:

- Identify and shed the cognitive biases that hinder you from viewing situations from other people's perspectives
- Recognize and address your own emotional triggers
- Use verbal and nonverbal communication to reduce conflict and foster collaboration
- Deal effectively with different personality types
- Navigate the course of a critical conversation from beginning to end
- Build, restore, and maintain healthy relationships

Filled with ready-to-use sample scripts, real-world scenarios of common workplace disagreements, and proven psychological methods for diffusing conflicts effectively, Let's Talk About It delivers everything you need to deal with the most challenging people and situations—confidently, competently, and collaboratively.

Many parents worry about their child's sleep, and parents of new babies are often exhausted - but there is hope. This realistic, reassuring, and refreshing guide to sleep looks at sleep for both parents and children, and aims to empower and encourage parents to feel calm, confident and compassionate in their parenting. It strikes a balance between prioritising infant and child mental health and attachment, and being compassionate about the reality of raising a family in today's society, with social support and understanding often in short supply. With practical and easily implementable ideas, and clear explanation of the many myths surrounding infant and baby sleep, this gentle and holistic guide is sure to allay many parents fears and help everyone in the family get the rest they need.

Offers "big sister" advice, Christ-centered encouragement, and information for living confidently in today's world.

For readers of Being Mortal and When Breath Becomes Air, the acclaimed founder of Death over Dinner offers a practical, inspiring guide to life's most difficult yet important conversation. Of the many critical conversations we will all have throughout our lifetime, few are as important as the ones discussing death—and not just the practical considerations, such as DNRs and wills, but what we fear, what we hope, and how we want to be remembered. Yet few of these conversations are actually happening. Inspired by his experience with his own father and countless stories from others who regret not having these conversations, Michael Hebb cofounded Death Over Dinner—an organization that encourages people to pull up a chair, break bread, and really talk about the one thing we all have in common. Death Over Dinner has been one of the most effective end-of-life awareness campaigns to date; in just three years, it has provided the framework and inspiration for more than a hundred thousand dinners focused on having these end-of-life conversations. As Arianna Huffington said, "We are such a fast-food culture, I love the idea of making the dinner last for hours. These are the conversations that will help us to evolve." Let's Talk About Death (over Dinner) offers keen practical advice on how to have these same conversations—not just at the dinner table, but anywhere. There's no one right way to talk about death, but Hebb shares time—and dinner—tested prompts to use as conversation starters, ranging from the spiritual to the practical, from analytical to downright funny and surprising. By transforming the most difficult conversations into an opportunity, they become celebratory and meaningful—ways that not only can change the way we die, but the way we live.

I am a story. So are you. So is everyone. Julius Lester says, "I write because our lives are stories. If enough of these stories are told, then perhaps we will begin to see that our lives are the same story. The differences are merely in the details." Now Mr. Lester shares his own story as he explores what makes each of us special. Karen Barbour's dramatic, vibrant paintings speak to the heart of Lester's unique vision, truly a celebration of all of us.

Striking a perfect balance between heartfelt emotions and spot-on humor, this debut features a pop-culture enthusiast protagonist with an unforgettable voice sure to resonate with readers. Alice had her whole summer planned. Nonstop all-you-can-eat buffets while marathoning her favorite TV shows (best friends totally included) with the smallest dash of adulting—working at the library to pay her share of the rent. The only thing missing from her perfect plan? Her girlfriend (who ended things when Alice confessed she's asexual). Alice is done with dating—no thank you, do not pass go, stick a fork in her, done. But then Alice meets Takumi and she can't stop thinking about him or the rom com-grade romance feels she did not ask for (uncertainty, butterflies, and swoons, oh my!). When her blissful summer takes an unexpected turn and Takumi becomes her knight with a shiny library-employee badge (close enough), Alice has to decide if she's willing to risk their friendship for a love that might not be reciprocated—or understood. Claire Kann's debut novel Let's Talk About Love, chosen by readers like you for Macmillan's young adult imprint Swoon Reads, gracefully explores the struggle with emerging adulthood and the complicated line between friendship and what it might mean to be something more. Praise for Let's Talk About Love from the Swoon
